Professor Foote teaches a wide variety of classes at the Frank W. and Sue Mayborn School of Journalism at the University of North Texas. Outside of his teaching duties, Foote is Co-Director of the Mayborn Literary Nonfiction Conference, a 14-year-old event featuring prominent journalists, authors and editors discussing all aspects of journalism and media.

Last year, nine students from several Bryan/College Station High Schools were recognized at the conference for winning awards in the Young Spurs Essay Contest. Foote has a B.A. in government from Wesleyan University and an M.S.J. from Northwestern University’s Medill School of Journalism and an M.B.A. from Southern Methodist University.

Join a Q&A session with Neil Foote by emailing questions to shirley.hammond@nara.gov before Feb. 14.
